Section I: Nominations Process

Call for Nominations

Annually, the ANA Nominations and Elections Committee (NEC) issues a Call for Nominations to all ANA members through a combination of communication channels, including email distribution lists, print and electronic publications, and web and social media outlets. In doing so, the NEC is guided by ANA’s mission, Nurses advancing our profession to improve health for all.

To further ANA’s mission and effectively address strategic priorities, the NEC seeks nominations from ANA members with the established qualifications and desired competencies (See Appendix B) as well as a commitment to advancing nursing practice, the profession of nursing, and the association. The NEC also solicits potential nominees from current and past leaders within ANA and encourages well-regarded leaders within ANA and those with related entities to seek election.

Underrepresented Members – Actions of the ANA Membership Assembly and the ANA Board of Directors have underscored the need for increased involvement of minority nurses and staff nurses¹, particularly those who are actively engaged in clinical practice and have served at the national level of the association; and directed that these needs be given a high priority when considering and submitting nominees.

ANA’s Elected Positions

ANA’s elective positions include four officer and five director positions on the ANA Board of Directors and seven positions on the Nominations and Elections Committee. The profiles for these positions are included as Appendix A.

Established Qualifications

Individuals wishing to be nominated for an ANA elective position must be a joint ANA-C/SNA² member or an IMD³ member and:

¹ A staff nurse is defined as one who is non-supervisory, non-managerial and includes one or more of the following: (1) is employed by a health care institution or agency; (2) whose primary role is a provider of direct patient care; (3) who is collective bargaining eligible under applicable labor law (ANA Bylaws, Article IV, Section 2.c)

² Constituent/State Nurses Association (C/SNA or C/SNAs)

³ Individual Member Division (IMD)

- Can be nominated or self-nominate for only one ANA elective position at any one time.
- Cannot serve in an appointed position and an elective position at the same time.
- If an ANA member holds an appointed position and is elected, he/she must resign the appointed position before he/she can serve in the elected position.
- Members of the Nominations and Elections Committee are not eligible to be nominated for service on the ANA Board of Directors.
- May not have a conflict of interest.

In addition to these established qualifications, each election cycle the ANA Board of Directors will determine desired competencies needed to provide direction and leadership within a framework of the mission and effective governance for the long-term success of the association.

Desired competencies are the combination of knowledge, skills, personal characteristics, and individual and social behaviors needed to effectively perform in the role.

Nomination Form

The nominee is required to submit a complete nomination package by the published deadline. The online nomination form includes:

- solicits general demographic information;
- solicits information to demonstrate that the nominee possesses the established qualifications and desired competencies; and
- requires the nominee to
 - complete and submit Conflict of Interest and Financial Disclosure Forms; and
 - consent to serve, if elected.

Second Call for Nominations

If the initial Call for Nominations results in fewer than two qualified nominees for an elective position, a second Call for Nominations will be conducted for only those positions with insufficient nominations.

Development of the Election Slate

To prepare a slate of at least two candidates for each elective position, the NEC reviews all nominations, considering both the individual nominees and the election slate as a whole.

- Individual nominee:
 - Has the required qualifications for the position being sought or an alternate elective position;

- Possesses the desired competencies for the position (Appendix B); and
- Has demonstrated leadership experience at the local, state, or national level.
- Election slate as a whole:
 - Has a balance of nursing practice areas;
 - Represents staff nurses and underrepresented members; and
 - Considers geographic distribution.

Assessing Nominee Qualifications

To ensure the election slate is comprised of candidates with the required qualifications and the desired competencies, the NEC will use a rubric to assess each nominee based upon the information provided in the nomination packet (see Appendix C). For certain elective positions, the NEC also may check the nominee's references, including with C/SNA or IMD leadership and/or interview the nominee. Any falsifications, misrepresentations, or forgeries will result in immediate disqualification of the candidate. In addition, candidates who fail to respond to communication from the NEC will be removed from the slate after two (2) attempts have been made.

The Nominations and Elections Committee is not required to slate all nominees as candidates. The Nominations and Elections Committee has the authority to slate as candidates only those nominees who meet established qualifications and best match and align with the desired competencies as defined in Appendix B.

Alternate Position

The NEC may contact nominees to verify their interest in an alternate position for which they have the established qualifications and desired competencies. A letter confirming receipt of the nominee's decision to run for an alternate position will include relevant information from the nomination.

The slate of candidates is published on the ANA website at least 90 days prior to the meeting of the ANA Membership Assembly (ANA Bylaws, Article VII, Section 1.d).

Nominee Appeal Process

A nominee may appeal the NEC's determination of ineligibility to be slated as a candidate for an elective position. See Appendix D for the appeal process.

Withdrawal of Nomination or Candidacy

Nominees or candidates may withdraw their nomination/candidacy by completing a Certification of Withdrawal Form and submitting it via email (nec@ana.org).

Communicating the Slate of Candidates

The NEC Chair, or designee, informs nominees of their placement on the slate of candidates. A copy of the ANA Election Manual is provided to candidates to ensure they understand their roles and responsibilities. No changes to the slate of candidates will be made once the Candidate Forum has started at Membership Assembly.

Nominations from the Floor

- Nominations from the floor will be permitted only when:
 - the NEC did not identify two nominees for each elective position with the established qualifications and desired competencies for placement as candidates on the election slate;
 - submission of completed nomination package prior to nomination from the floor and;
 - the nominee has been deemed qualified by the NEC
- The individual who has self-nominated or the nominator will be required to declare the nomination when the ANA President calls for nominations from the floor.
- The individual nominated from the floor shall be permitted to provide a one-minute nominating speech.

Candidate Profile Guide

The NEC is deeply committed to ensuring all candidates are provided with a fair and equal opportunity to provide ANA Membership Assembly Representatives with relevant information to support their decision-making.
