CS01-1.1
Title: Fellowship: Promoting Wellbeing and Self-care for Yourself and Others
Description: This engaging fellowship program has created an environment where fellows can focus on self-care and cultivate competencies that promote wellbeing for themselves and others in the clinical setting.
Presenter(s): Corinne Lee, DNP, RN, ACNE-BC, NPD-BC
Organization: University of Michigan Health

CS01-1.2
Title: Collaborating to bring Wellness Minutes to New Graduate RNs
Description: Demonstration of how collaboration with a hospital’s wellness team can help educate and bring awareness related to self-care initiatives utilizing microlearning principles with each topic. The collaboration allowed for a broader range of topics to be presented along with promoting networking with other disciplines within the health system.
Presenter(s): Cassie Callfin, MSN, RN and Amber Browning, NPH, RN, CNH/C
Organization: Norman Regional Health System

CS01-1.3
Title: Fostering Resilience and Wellbeing to Mitigate Stress and Intent to Leave during a Pandemic among New Graduate Nurses Residents
Description: Measurement of new graduate nurse resident perceptions of stress and intent to leave provides data to evaluate the program over time and to create program enhancements that increase resilience and wellbeing and decrease intent to leave.
Presenter(s): Kim Falla, PhD, RN, NE-BC, NPD-BC and Laurie Eckett, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, CNL
Organization: Sharp HealthCare

CS01-2.1
Title: Starting with "why" to create your fellowship strategy
Description: Creating a system wide strategy around advanced practice fellowships allows for alignment of senior leadership and a seamless approach to transition to practice program. As a senior executive, helping my colleagues understand the "why" was the first step. Then we could move to create the how and what. As the strategy of our organization changes each year, we pivot the fellowship to maintain alignment and focus. This has allowed us to grow and contribute positively to the success of our system.
Presenter(s): Melinda Cooling DNP, MBA, APRN
Organization: OSF Healthcare

CS01-2.2
Theme: Start with your why

CS01-2.3
Power Session (There are two presentations during the PTAP Power Session)
Theme: Precepting: from surviving to coaching

CS01-3.1
Title: The Coach Calls the Shots: Onboarding New Graduate Nurses with a Coach Model of Precepting
Description: A coach model of precepting supports the new graduate nurse as they orient to the organization and learn fundamental skills in a supportive group environment without a direct patient assignment. The coach facilitates opportunities for deliberate hands-on practice with intentional time to reflect and learn, relieving preceptor burden.
Presenter(s): Christina Freeman MSN, RN, PCCN-K, Jessica Tolzman, MSN, RN, PCCN, and Cindy Blanchini, DNP, RN, NPD-BC, CNOR(E)
Organization: Legacy Health

CS01-3.2
Title: Development and Implementation of a Preceptor Toolkit as a Survival Guide for Success
Description: Preceptors are essential for the successful onboarding of new nurses. With the current healthcare environment, availability of skilled preceptors to support orientation of new nurses and experienced nurses in specialty areas and advanced practice, outcome driven competency based professional development encapsulates the importance of early engagement in lifelong learning. This session will highlight the impact of aligning NCPD and Joint Accreditation standards in TTP programs.
Presenter(s): Jennifer DNP, FNP-C, NPD-BC, CEN
Organization: American Nurses Credentialing Center

CS01-4.1
Title: Maximize Transition to Practice Programs through Continuing Professional Development Accreditation
Description: Transition to Practice (TTP) programs support new graduate nurses, and experienced nurses in specialty areas and advanced practice. Outcome driven competency based professional development encapsulates the importance of early engagement in lifelong learning. This session will highlight the impact of aligning NCPD and Joint Accreditation standards in TTP programs.
Presenter(s): Jennifer DNP, FNP-C, NPD-BC, CEN
Organization: American Nurses Credentialing Center
