Kristen Hanzlik	Your Family	Kristen consistently goes above and beyond for her patients as well as co-workers. Once a homeless, high school drop-out, she has utilized her past hardships to encourage others; showing all that your past does not define you and you are never alone. Kristen is an inspiration to many, just talk with anyone who knows her. In addition to working countless hours as a nurse manager, additional hours as a detox nurse, a single mother, and a daughter caring for her parents as she almost lost her father this past year due to health issues; she also completed her MSN in PMHNP nursing. Kristen shared her story of hardship, faith, and finding blessings in any situation while going through her father's illness and it touched the lives and hearts of many--she was changing lives. She then started the Lighthouse Devotions project single-handedly which provides cinch bags with toiletry items, socks, water, and love to the homeless and those struggling. During COVID-19, she was buying food for multiple families who were struggling, handed out all of her toiletry bags, and continued encouraging others to show love and grace. She does not choose to take credit or be in the spotlight. Rather, she points out gratitude in anyone she encounters for things that most of us do not even notice. She truly is an inspiration and a shining example of the meaning of nursing. I strongly encourage you to speak with her.....You would not be disappointed.

She is first and foremost client centered in her role as Director of Nursing for Atrium Healthcare In Charlotte, North Carolina's Jesse Helms facility. In my long career as a Registered Nurse and having worked in many Nursing capacities, I have never worked for anyone more devoted to her Patient's and staff as Donna is. How many DON's appear on the job at 5:00 am every morning, ready to actively help out the nursing staff with anything that is needed to be done to enhance patient care? I've never seen one! Then she spends the rest of her day until and over 12 hours performing her duties as DON as well as continuing to help out in any capacity to keep the facility functioning to the highest of levels. (Including grabbing a broom if need is there!) When a hurricane and a winter storm prevented many staff from traveling to work, Donna slept over and worked along with the rest. The facility kept up and running as usual under Donna's leadership. When Covid-19 appeared, it was Donna who implemented our patient and staff
