

Lead, Drive, and Thrive in the System

by Jennifer S. Mensik, PhD, RN, NEA-BC

Introduction to Systems Thinking and System-based Leadership

Chapter 1. Introduction to Healthcare Systems

Chapter 2. Our Evolving Healthcare System

Chapter 3. What is Systems Thinking?

Chapter 4. Innovation and Standardization

Chapter 5. Facilitating and Managing Change

Chapter 6. All Nurses are Leaders

Chapter 7. Systems Thinking from an Individual Organization Up

Chapter 8. Systems Thinking from the Corporate Office Down

Chapter 9. Moving Everyone Forward

References for Systems Thinking and System-based Leadership

Index

Jennifer S. Mensik, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FACHE, earned a PhD in nursing, Health systems, and public administration from the University of Arizona College of Nursing. Mensik currently is an independent practice consultant and writer. She has worked at St. Luke's Health System in Idaho as the Administrator for Nursing and Patient Care, was the Executive Director of Quality and Patient Safety for the UCLA Health System, and has worked at Banner Health as the system's Director of Clinical Practice and Research. She is the author of multiple publications, including The Nurse Manager's Guide to Innovative Staffing.

