- More on the Nightingale Challenge

- Goal: to have at least 1,000 employers accepting the Nightingale Challenge, benefiting over 20,000 nurses and midwives aged 35 and under during 2020, the Year of the Nurse.
- Nursing Now USA will focus on leadership development opportunities:
 - For “early career” nurses versus those aged 35 and under only
 - Across the full spectrum of opportunities
 - Academic
 - Clinical/Practice
 - Professional Development
 - Available outside of nursing
- Employers of nurses and midwives are invited to take part by providing a leadership and development program, with larger health employers providing development for at least 20 early career nurses.
- Leadership development can be any mix of formal courses, mentoring, shadowing or learning from other professionals or sectors.
- The Institute for Healthcare Improvement (IHI) Open School has made available access to its Open School Resources to develop nurses’ knowledge and skills in leading change, available at: <http://www.ihl.org/education/IHIOpenSchool/Courses/Pages/Nursing-Now.aspx>.
- Requirements for participating employers must include: 1) opportunity for personal development to learn about leadership, management, or the greater organization, not just clinical; and 2) Sharing plans with Nursing Now at the beginning of 2020, and reporting back on experiences by the end of 2020.
